

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA)
Emergency Management Institute (EMI)
and the

Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe

invite you to attend the

FEMA Emergency Management Overview for Tribal Leadership course (L0583)

Jun 17, 2024 from 8:00 am - 1:00 pm

At the HVJ Cultural Center, Hwy 212, Eagle Butte, SD 57625

This four-hour L583 course is designed to enhance Tribal leader's knowledge and understanding of how your role in emergency management can help better protect Tribal citizens, lands, culture, and sovereignty as well as improve the fiscal sustainability of your Tribal community.

Intended Audience: Tribal elected and appointed officials, department heads and staff who seek to support and engage in the successful preparation, response, and recovery from incidents and disasters while creating resilience and maintaining sovereignty for your people. This course provides you both understanding and your role in your Tribal emergency management.

Course topics will include:

- Legal and Financial responsibilities of Tribal Leaders
- The role of a Tribal Emergency Manager and the role of Tribal Leadership
- An overview of FEMA assistance available to tribal governments

The training and course materials are free

Travel expenses are the responsibility of the student's organization

To sign up please contact

Lori Mike at (605) 964-4154 or at lmike33@live.com

Online registration is open (in-person registration will also be available at class)

- Please obtain a Student Identification Number: <https://cdp.dhs.gov/femasid>
- Please apply online: National Emergency Training Center Online Admissions Application \(fema.gov\)
 - Course is L0583, Start Date: June 17, 2024 if registering online

HOTEL INFORMATION

Cheyenne River Motel, Hwy 212, Eagle Butte, SD 57625

AIRPORT INFORMATION

Rapid City Regional Airport (RAP), Approx 3 hours from Eagle Butte